OUR STORY.

In 1985, Len Scurrah and Bob Smith opened Pazzaz Printing to the public in George Street, Morwell. With limited resources and second-hand equipment, they worked long days and nights to produce quality printed material for a steadily growing clientele. Through hard work, reliable service and a strong commitment to the local community, the business established a trusted reputation throughout Gippsland.

In 2000, Bob pursued other opportunities, and Len's son, Nathan, joined the company as an apprentice printer. Nathan learned the trade and gained valuable experience across all areas of the business. When Len and his wife, Chris, retired in 2017, Nathan took ownership and continued building on the strong foundations they had created.

A significant new chapter began in October 2020 when Pazzaz Printing acquired Gippsland Printers, another locally owned business with more than 100 years of history. The company then began trading under the Gippsland Printers name. Following the successful combination and continued growth of both businesses, the company expanded again in 2022 by acquiring Larkin Printers and Phillip Island Printers.

Today, with an experienced team and advanced printing equipment, Gippsland Printers proudly delivers professional printing solutions while maintaining the friendly, dependable service customers have valued for more than 40 years.

Gippsland Printers Timeline

1886 – Where the Story Begins

The story begins with the release of the first issue of the Morwell Advertiser. Its printing operation laid the foundations for what would eventually become Gippsland Printers, beginning a proud tradition of local publishing, commercial printing and service to businesses and communities throughout the Gippsland region.

1970 – An Independent Commercial Printer

The Latrobe Valley Express merges with the Morwell Advertiser. The printing operation separates from the newspaper business and becomes a standalone commercial printer.

1985 – Pazzaz Printing Opens

Len Scurrah and Bob Smith open Pazzaz Printing in George Street, Morwell. Starting with second-hand equipment and limited resources, they work long days and nights to produce quality printing and build a loyal, steadily growing customer base throughout the Latrobe Valley.

2000 – The Next Generation

Bob Smith pursues other opportunities, while Len's son Nathan Scurrah joins Pazzaz Printing as an apprentice printer.

2011–2012 – Gippsland Printers Relunched

Gippsland Trade Printers purchases LV Printers in Traralgon. The Gippsland Printers brand is relaunched, with a customer service and administration centre established in Traralgon.

2017 – Nathan Takes Ownership of Pazzaz Printing

After learning the trade and working throughout the business, Nathan takes ownership of Pazzaz Printing from Len.

October 2020 – Two Local Printing Businesses Unite

Pazzaz Printing acquires Gippsland Printers. Recognising the strength and long history of the name, the combined business continues trading as Gippsland Printers.

2022 – Expanding Across Gippsland

Gippsland Printers acquires Larkin Printers and Phillip Island Printers, extending its services across the region.

2025 – 40 Years of the Scurrah Family Business

Forty years after Pazzaz Printing first opened, the business continues the values established by Len and Bob: quality workmanship, dependable service and strong local relationships.

Today – Proudly Local Since 1886

Gippsland Printers combines over a century of printing experience with modern technology, personal service and strong community support.
